

Merge-In-Transit Service

At Impact Supply Chain Solutions, we understand that how your product arrives at your customer's delivery location is a direct reflection of your company. Arriving on time and in pristine condition is critical to overall customer satisfaction. It is with this goal in mind that we provide our merge-in-transit service.

Many industries today source components from various suppliers located worldwide that need to marry up in transit for a consolidated, single delivery. Our team of merge-in-transit specialists coordinate these deliveries by combining our worldwide network of agents and warehouse locations with our 25 years of experience in the logistics industry.

Many of our merge-in-transit deliveries require coordination with an installer or technician at the delivery site. Our customer support group work directly with these representatives to insure a seamless and professional delivery. You only get one shot at making these deliveries successful and ISCS excels at on time, error free merge-in-transit service.
